THE RENAISSANCE ART

Emerging at the end of the 14th century, The Renaissance Art era was a spectacular time of incredible artistic and cultural expressions which swept across the European region and beyond for the next three centuries. Revisit the beauty of the Renaissance period in an inspired journey through these five amazing countries, beginning with Finland all the way through to Morocco.

Our Vision

The EVI brand consists of HPL Laminate and E0 Melamine Face Chipboard a new type of safe and environmental friendly decorative. We are the first to introduce symmetrical designs available for both of our materials, in order to have flexibility in our designs. We source our material ethically to only use low formaldehyde that's within the World Health Organisation (WHO) standards and USA Greenguard certified, making sure it does no harm to the health of our consumers. Our material is also recognised by the Green Label Singapore Association and is widely applied on indoor renovations, system furniture, and furniture panels.

The EVI brand is also one of the main distributors for Japan vinyl tiles as well as the only with our best selling in house geometric designs that come in different shape, sizes and style cater to your individual preference.

We constantly innovate to create new products in the market. Our latest made to order state of the art digital print using Japanese technology to cater for our higher-end customer who seeks personalisation in their design.

Glass Igloo Village

The Renaissance Art journey is an adventure of a lifetime, especially for those with wanderlust in them. It all begins North of Europe, in the Scandanavia region. First stop: Finland. Breathtaking in every way, Finland is a spectacular canvas of unique experiences. At the Glass Igloo Village, nature comes alive in the form of the amazing Northern Lights; in the city of Helsinki, palaces and historical sites inspire appreciation of Finland's history.

More outdoor beauty ensues as the journey heads into California – more specifically, Death Valley. Nestled between the mountainous terrains of Nevada and California, Death Valley National Park is known for its highest temperatures of America. Despite the hot weather, there's plenty to explore in this valley: interesting flora species and wildlife as well as the numerous dunes at the Mesquite Flat.
